Murder at Cedar Lake: a Halloween Trail Ride Mystery

Setting: Cedar Lake Equestrian Campground, nestled in the rugged Wichita Mountains of Southeast Oklahoma, is a haven for horse enthusiasts. It's October 31, 2025, and the Oklahoma Equestrian Trail Riders (OETRA) club has gathered 80 members for their annual Halloween ride. The crisp autumn air carries the scent of pine and campfire smoke, and the campground buzzes with excitement—costumed riders, decorated horses, and spooky trail games under a full moon. Cedar Lake, surrounded by granite peaks and dense woods, feels festive yet isolated, with spotty cell service and no immediate neighbors. The stage is set for a chilling mystery. The REST of the story will be told at Fall Color Ride. Come find out who is involved in this mystery... It might just be YOU!

President's Message

It's STILL HOT!!!

We were able to spend two weeks in the cool Colorado mountains during July and had to wear jackets at night. We had a group of seven that drove the nine hours to Westcliffe to ride in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains along the Rainbow Trail. We rode from 7 to 17 miles everyday. One day we went to the top to have lunch and I fed a hairy marmot a cookie during lunch. He was very good at begging and had seen lots of hikers ready to give him a hand out. Part of our group even camped out at the top one night. I hope you were able to find a cool and dry place to ride.

Check the calendar for a moonlight ride at Hickory Creek Aug 9th, and a scavenger hunt at Serenity Hollow on August 29th. Our Statewide ride is September 27 and there are no rules just ride! Please post pictures of any of the OETRA trails you ride on and how many came to ride so we can get a statewide count.

Then October 4-5 there is a fun ride at Prague for a Scavenger hunt and benefit ride that sounds really fun.

This year our Fall Color Ride is early. It's October 31- November 2 at Cedar Lake. Log onto recreation.gov to reserve a spot. If its full there are a lot of first come spots if you plan to come early on Tuesday or Wednesday before. Wear a costume Friday night to the Chili cook off and bring your prize winning chili or cornbread and dessert. Saturday is a new experience. We're doing a murder mystery ride and also Saturday evening we will all get to relax and not cook with the Chuck Wagon doing all the cooking.

For just $5 you'll get dinner, drink and dessert. He will also provide the entertainment. Sunday we'll ride to the Sermon on the Mount location and then ride on after as long as you want.

Keep logging your miles for prizes in December.

President

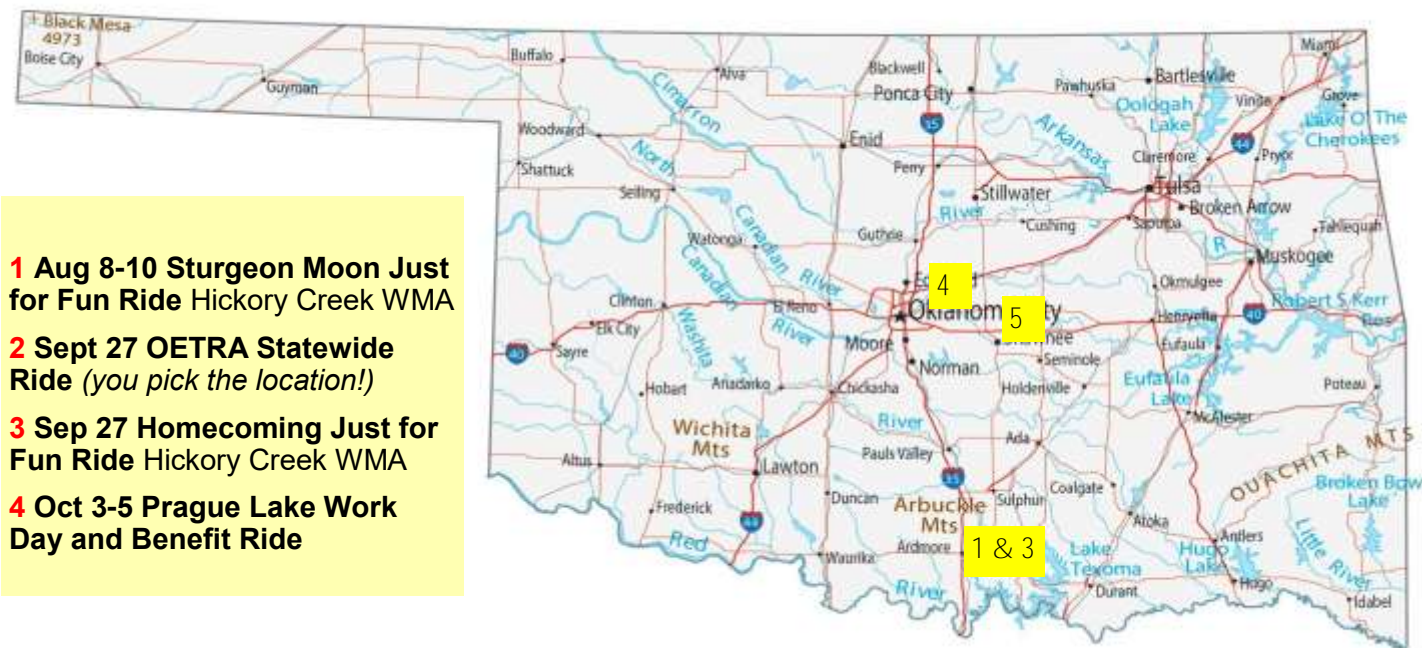

Jeanette Zeller

Please keep in your prayers the families of the kids at the Mystic campground in Texas. As someone who spent every summer at camp I can't image the sorrow the parents must feel.

Liberty Lake Fundraiser Sale

Every couple of years we have a sale at our barn to support a charity and this year the Liberty Lake Trails were our focus. The goal at the lake is to keep the trails clear and wide enough to help minimize the exposure to ticks and other crawly things, and to have the ability to get emergency services if needed. This year has been much more challenging with the significant rain.

My husband brush hogs the larger open areas, and other volunteers push walk-behind string trimmers, use loppers and chainsaws. While the string trimmers do a fair job they are tough to push in some of the terrain, and not heavy duty enough for the type or amount of work we ask of them. After blowing the engine casing apart while working one day we decided we needed an equipment upgrade.

We had an opportunity to borrow a walk behind brush cutter from a friend. It had an electric start and was self-propelled, which made the work a lot easier. We set our goal to fundraise and buy a DR Power Brush Cutter for Liberty Lake!

Many, many items were delivered by some very generous donors. Volunteers worked hard to get the barn set up, and people streamed down our driveway for the sale we held on June 21st. I can't thank everyone enough for their service and generosity. Many people were quite generous and overpaid for their items. We were overwhelmed at the end of the day when we counted the proceeds and found that we had exactly enough to buy the brush cutter! -Julie Cameron

Bell Cow Lake by Janis Baldwin

I have some most exciting news! I have been officially notified that the city of Chandler has implemented the Firefly reservation system at Bell Cow's Area A!!!! This is the same reservation system implemented at Prague Lake. From Chandler's announcement:

As of now, only Area A has switched completely and Areas B and C will switch soon. A sign is posted at the Area A entrance where a reservation can also be made onsite by scanning a QR code. Full payment is required at the time of booking to confirm a reservation. The honor box will no longer be used to collect camping fees. It will still be used to collect boating, fishing, and trails fees until a new system is implemented. An announcement for that will be made when appropriate. Please visit our website link below to make a reservation and call City Hall for any questions.

Serenity Hollow Get Away

By Terri Folks

A last-minute ride at the new equestrian resort in Heavener proved to be the perfect place to get out of the heat! New OETRA members Tamie Lucas and her daughter, Marissa, have put in the loveliest get-away. Their dream was to own an equestrian resort.

They looked at several places around the US and decided Heavener, Oklahoma, was the perfect fit.

They jumped in with a leap of faith and are doing a great job. Not only is it close to the trails at Cedar Lake, it is in the most beautiful hollow. You can see Cedar Lake's Blue Mountain from their property and trails.

Right now there are about 30 miles of trails, just from their property, but they are continually discovering and adding new trails!

I put together a "Summer Camp" ride for the OK Trail Riding Gals July 26-29. Only four of us could make it work out but I will say it has been one of my new most favorite places to ride.

OETRA members Sara Burk, Leslie Doyle, and Kim Carlton joined me there. Kim and Sara stayed in cabins (all brand new with AC and from what I heard, WONDERFUL beds!) Remember everything is new! The cabins are dry – meaning no water/bathroom. But each spot has a water tank with an outlet for horse water and a (Continued on page 7) large equine pen. Leslie stayed in the 1 bedroom "cabin" attached to the barn. It also had a sleeper sofa. It had formerly been used as a craft room with a long countertop with a tall table and bar stools. It was the perfect party room. We ate our nighttime meals there, played games and did crafts.

I was in the electric site (more electric sites are coming August 10th) and was next to the hitching rail, mounting block (extra tall!), outdoor kitchen and bath-house. My horse was across from me in an extra-large corral. He loved it!!! Leslie and I had access to the water at the barn (extra long hose!) for our horses and a wash bay set up to rinse the horses off.

Our first craft was soap carving. Tamie had suggested it as an inexpensive craft. She failed to tell us she was so artistic. Hers looked like a real sculpture and the rest of us...LOL Then Saturday night we made tie dyed t-shirts that Leslie provided the tie dye kit. That was a blast too. I made everyone a decal to put on their t-shirts when they got home.

The best though was the riding (and the friendship, of course!) Even though it was really hot, as soon as we rode down the approximately one-half mile gravel road and got on the trails, it was 20 degrees cooler with a wonderful breeze. Tamie and Marissa have discovered old forestry roads (part of the National Forestry land) and found trails all over. It was the beauty of Cedar Lake without the rocks. There was no water on the trails because you are riding up on the hillside. We rode 6-10 miles each day. They also have a round pen you can use. The flies weren't even bad.

As an extra bonus – Tamie and Marissa are also horse trainers! Tamie was great to work with Cisco (my new gelding) and I on our gaiting.

They have several events coming up – August 29-31 Scavenger Hunt; Sept. 19-21 Playday; October 17-19 Halloween Ride; October 30-Nov. 2 Fall Color Ride accommodations for the OETRA Fall Color Ride and transportation to Cedar Lake for an additional fee); Nov. 14-16 Foodie Weekend and Dec. 12-14 Christmas Crafts.

Check them out at Serenity Hollow Campground on Facebook as they add more activities (even some clinics are being planned). Reservations: 918.721.6400 or SerenityHollow25@outlook.com

Colon Displacement

So, today I learned about Colon Displacement. Left Dorsal and Right Dorsal.

I learned because a horse (CRUZ) I'm fond of developed it and we battled his colic only to find out it's far more serious. The good news, is he's being attended to in a Vet Hospital... but what I find interesting is how it happens and what is done to fix it in treatment.

Drugs and anti-blockers, exercise to help flip it back, rolling over, and failing that... surgical procedure. But what really made me stop and think was the "rolling". They roll the horse over and hope gravity does its job. Makes sense.

Yup. I'm good with that. What I'm unsure of now... is when I watch my own horse happily rolling in his pasture or arena I wouldn't stop him from rolling, but I may feel a need to control it or at least pay more attention.

The other thing I'd think is problematic is that we tend to stop thinking once we believe it's colic. Well, to me colic is a symptom of a problem that can come from many gastrointestinal problems. So it's not enough to just dose with Banamine, walk him around, and watch for poop. Yeah, that's the first steps. And while doing that first aid... we should be thinking deeper about why, or what if there's something else there to come.

Sunday Cruz Update: We just got an update from the vet. Cruz's colon is still displaced, so they have now started a medication to shrink the spleen, which may help the colon move back into place. However, this treatment comes with a possible bleeding risk, so they are monitoring him closely. If this does not work, the next step will be to put him under general anesthesia and perform a rolling procedure tomorrow to try to reposition the colon manually. The good news is that he had a stable night and is holding on strong. Still praying for horse poop.

And a HUGH THANK YOU to everyone for keeping Cruz in thought and hopes. Cruz's Support Team and friends appreciate it greatly.

MONDAY UPDATE - I am very happy today to say that "CRUZ the Colic" has RESPONDED SUCCESSFULLY to his spleen reduction medications and his colon has returned to its normal position and he is recovering like the absolute CHAMPION that he is.

Cruz was hospitalized after a 3 days colic battle diagnosed with a Left Dorsal Displacement. Today, we will clean him out, get some good nutrition back into him, and make sure everything is flowing properly, and hopefully he will be coming back to the sanctuary in the next day or so.

Again, this has been a great learning adventure for all of us, and Cruz thanks everyone who offered words of support, generous donations to cover medical, care and hopes. His care team can finally breathe a sigh of relief.

FINAL UPDATE CRUZ – he's coming home !!!! A few more nutrition boosts, and the big fella will be coming back to the sanctuary on Thursday we hope. He's in a better mood, and giving them that Cruz attitude he's famous for now that he's feeling better.

Hospital bill paid, a healthy horse... today just got a whole lot better.
